

APPROVE OF THE PLAN OF WITTE

Russian Government Gives Out Statement That Witte Has Solved Great Problem.

WANT THE INDEMNITY REDUCED

Conference Met This Morning To Hear What Russia Has
To Offer To Japan's Demands---Will Adjourn Till Tuesday.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—The statement is made today at the foreign office that the government entirely agrees with Witte that a compromise should be offered to Japan. The only question now is whether Japan will reduce the demand for money or not. It is believed here that peace is certain to be concluded.

At Portsmouth
Portsmouth, Aug. 26.—The peace envoys and members of their staffs were up early this morning receiving and sending final messages to their governments preparatory to the meeting today. Russia's answer to Japan's last proposition is likely to be presented. The session is expected to be a short one. The Japanese commissioners will receive the Russian answer and then propose an adjournment until next week, probably Tuesday, to allow time for its transmission to Tokyo.

Are Absurd
Berlin, Aug. 26.—The foreign office announced that all the reports regarding the opposition of the Emperor to mediation of President Roosevelt are absurd. It says the Emperor admires the efforts of the President and had aided from the beginning of the negotiations.

Holds Conference
St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—Ambassador Meyer had a conference with Lamsdorff today.

All on Japan
Portsmouth, Aug. 26.—Witte said this afternoon: "All depends upon Japan and whether she will be willing to make concessions. I do not anticipate any favorable result from today's meeting and am anxious to get away." Salo, informed of Witte's statement, said: "All right. We can act accordingly then." It is feared Japan may call Russia's bluff by breaking off negotiations.

Japanese Envoy Talk
Speaking in Japan, Mr. Salo said: "The propositions of Japan have always been made in a conciliatory spirit. I think there will more meetings. This is a friendly conference and I would hesitate to use the term ultimatum about the Japanese conditions. However, I think that Japan will not vary her terms much from those already presented."

When at the last meeting of the envoys Japan proposed that Russia should pay $600,000,000 for the northern half of Sakhalin island. Witte refused to discuss that point. He said he is here to make peace, but that he had instructions to pay no indemnity and that he recognized in the Japanese demand merely a subterfuge to get an indemnity without calling it by its real name.

Envoys Shift Responsibility.
The language M. Witte used to Baron Komura was: "You have merely presented old terms in a new guise. If you put a woman in a man's dress she is still a woman, is she not? There is no change in this condition."

After M. Witte had refused to discuss this point it was agreed mutually that Baron Komura and M. Witte should communicate with their governments and put the questions at issue before them.

M. Witte refused to accept the responsibility. Both he and Komura cabled to their sovereigns.

Witte expected to have an answer Friday. He proposed that the conference should meet at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. Komura asked that the time be fixed at 3 o'clock. Witte agreed to this. It is not known whether or not this will be the last conference, but that is hardly expected.

Next Meeting to Be Last.
M. Witte said definitely that the next extended conference will be the last. He does not expect any further Japanese concessions. He knows there will be no further concessions from St. Petersburg. He fully expects the conference to fail.

The Japanese also expect failure, although nobody knows how much further they are willing to go with Russia. If they will withdraw the money demand they can get peace in fifteen minutes. There is no evidence that Japan will exhibit so great a spirit of magnanimity as to withdraw the demand for an indemnity.

Unless the Russians are the greatest bluffers in the world they will not pay a cent of tribute. Unless the Japanese are more generous than any conquerors in history they will not withdraw their demands for reimbursement for the cost of the war.

Peace depends on what the czar and the mikado say. The envoys have relinquished their plenipotentiary powers.

They are merely mouthpieces now. There is nothing to indicate what St. Petersburg or Tokyo will say, but the impression is that both Japan and Russia have reached the last ditch and that each will remain firm on the positions assumed.

STOCK PLAY HOUSES ORGANIZE CIRCUIT

Formation Effected in New York City—Leading Companies Are in Combine.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, August 26.—Managers of ten stock companies have formed a circuit which goes into effect today. The object is to provide better stock company plays at a reduced rate, and the move is the most important and radical ever made in this field. At the present time each stock house presents one new play a week and is unable to do this well, because of the drain upon the strength of the players, and because of the producing cost. This way the association agrees to produce three productions, during the season of forty-two weeks, and after a week at its home house, sends the company to all the other houses in the combine, where it will remain a week, thus in fifteen weeks it will reach home, as there will be fifteen houses in the combine. By holding out forty-two weeks of employment, with no morning rehearsals, the managers believe they can procure better actors than at present, and they are sure that they can improve both their scenic productions and performances. The productions will reduce expenses enormously. Among those who will be in the combine are leading stock companies of the country, Proctor's, The Lee Ave., Theatre, Brooklyn; Forepaugh, Philadelphia; The Imperial, Providence; Empire, Columbus, O.; The Marlboro, Chicago; The Empire, Cleveland; The Park, Buffalo; The Lyceum, Washington, and the Lafayette, Detroit.

Michigan Hermit Takes Involuntary

Traverse City, Mich., Aug. 26.—Sam Vint, Traverse City's hermit, with a state-wide reputation, has taken his first bath in eighty odd years. He was soaking his feet in the bay and was sitting on the dock in some manner he slipped and fell in. He was rescued without difficulty. As he does not believe that bathing is healthy, his imprecations against the treacherous dock were many and varied. Vint is 89 years old and goes barefooted almost all year.

AMERICAN YACHTS AFTER ROYAL CUP

Racing in International Contest at Halifax, Nova Scotia, Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Halifax, N. S., August 26.—The yacht race for the royal trophy took place here today. It is an international affair and American yachts have the privilege of competing for the Prince of Wales Cup, which is the prize. This cup was presented to the Royal Nova Scotia Yacht Club by the present King of England when, as a young Prince, he visited Halifax. It is a beautiful specimen of the silversmith's handiwork, standing two feet high, and is one of the handsomest trophies in existence. It has always been treasured by the yachtmen of the British North American possessions, and has never left the waters in which it was first sailed for. Some of America's swiftest yachts competed and it is known that the provinces have no yachts which can compete with the fastest American boats, hence it was a sportsmanlike act for the Nova Scotia Yacht Club to do.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, August 26.—At the beginning of the war, Japan was represented as a pupil of Western nations; at the ending of the war, she appears as a teacher. England with its magnificent navy, is being told that a navy like the Emperor of Japan's must co-operate with Italy, with a large and well drilled army hears the same thing. Thus the defeat of Russia, which was expected by some to result in a reduction of European armaments, may actually cause an increase all around.

Assault Upon The Jews--Awful

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]

London, Aug. 26.—Details of the massacre of Jews at Bialistok on Aug. 12 have just reached London in mail advices.

Thirty-eight were killed and 127 wounded by soldiers, who raided the Jewish quarters to take revenge for a bomb outrage in which three soldiers were killed.

The massacre was as appalling as the one at Kishineff two years ago, although at Bialistok the populace stood by and watched the soldiers do the killing, while at Kishineff the soldiers were the spectators.

Bialistok is a city of 60,000 persons on the railway from Warsaw to Odesa. There are 15,000 Jews among the inhabitants. The town is an important military garrison.

The trouble began in the last week in August, during a strike, in which Jewish workmen were brutally treated by the police, aided by the troops.

At a secret meeting of Jewish socialists three men were designated to secure revenge upon the soldiery.

As the result of the plot an unknown man threw a bomb from a crowd which a detachment of troops was dispersing on the afternoon of Aug. 12. Three soldiers were killed by the explosion and several injured.

Soldiers Seek Revenge.

The soldiers raised the cry of "Death to the Jews," and a general move was made for the Jewish quarter of the city.

Several vodka shops were raided and the soldiers, inflamed with liquor, marched through the streets, shooting at Jewish men, women and children.

Davis had lived the life of a hermit many years and was confined to his bed from the time he returned from the marriage in Illinois.

The missing ward in the La Crosse census was brought in on Friday. The official announcement gives La Crosse city a population of 29,229, a gain of 233 over 1900, and La Crosse county complete 42,890, a loss of 147 from 1900.

It was decided at the meeting of the state association of the Equitable Fraternal union to hold the next annual picnic at Appleton. W. R. Kriess of Appleton was elected president of the association, and he will appoint other officers.

Buffalo county experienced one of the severest storms for many years Wednesday. About twenty-five feet of Burlington track was undermined at Alma, and other damage was done in the same neighborhood. Two carloads of wheat were ditched. The members of Charles Maier's family, living south of Alma, were forced from their home by rock and other debris which was washed down the ravine back of their home.

Jewish houses were broken into, the inmates killed or slashed with knives, the furniture smashed, feather beds ripped open, and filth from the gutters thrown through the broken windows.

The savagery of the drunken soldiery was without parallel.

A little Jewish girl, 11 or 12 years old, was shot down in front of her father's home. As she lay dying in the street, a soldier stamped upon her chest with his heavy boots while others slashed her body with sabers and bayonets.

Scenes of Revolting Cruelty.

An old man, 75 years old, was shot while coming out of the synagogue.

A woman, standing in the doorway of her own home, was stabbed in the breast with a bayonet. A doctor who arrived to dress her wounds was beaten by the soldiers.

Another old man, nearly eighty years old, was attacked in the street. The soldiers pulled out his beard and then killed him.

The young son of a merchant was severely wounded by a bullet through his abdomen. The surgeon brought by his father was prevented from attending the wounded youth. On his persisting the doctor was attacked by the soldiers and driven away.

Two Jews were discovered carrying a wounded man to his home. The soldiers killed one of them and wounded the other.

In nearly every case the dead were slashed with bayonets as they lay in the streets. It is admitted that the soldiers were drunk; but so far no steps have been taken to punish them.

"LYNCH" A PLAYMATE IN FUN

Victim of Minneapolis Rough Sport
Has Narrow Escape From Death.

Minneapolis Minn., Aug. 26.—While playing "Indians" Raymond Carciolfin, a member of a prominent family of this city, 13 years old, was lynched by a rope hung about his neck and drawn off his feet, the rope having been thrown over the limb of a tree. Cries of anguish rent the air in the vicinity of the "hanging," when the perpetrators of the "lynching" made their escape to their homes, leaving the unfortunate boy dangling to his fate, which had it not been for the quick action of Rev. J. B. Riley of the First Baptist church, this city, would have been death. The boy was cut down in the nick of time, his neck being severely cut by the rope, which was steadily growing more taut as each moment passed. Arrests may follow.

TALKS OF LIFE OF SIMPLE CRIME

FRANK PUNSHON TWICE CON-VICTED IN JANESVILLE, TALKS.

IS ARRESTED IN CHICAGO

Robbed Confiding Women While They Were Asleep—Bad Record
in This City.

Frank Punshon, the former Janesville swindler and criminal who has again been arrested in Chicago for swindling and robbing women of money and jewelry, has confessed to his crimes and told the story of his life. Punshon was twice convicted of crime in Janesville courts, if the record the Chicago police have is correct, and has spent thirty-five of his fifty-nine years in prison. Punshon's game was to advertise for a housekeeper and when one replied find if she had money. If so, an appointment was made at a hotel and adjoining rooms secured. While his victims slept Punshon robbed them of their valuables and escaped. Punshon's record in Janesville is bad. Aside from his larger cases he is supposed to have had guilty knowledge of the death of a young girl who testified against him and whose body was found the day after her testimony. He narrowly escaped lynching at the time and was hustled through back streets to save his life. Punshon tells the following story of his life: He is the son of wealthy parents and nephew of the late Rev. Dr. Thomas Punshon of London, England, who was connected with the religious work of Moody and Sankey. Punshon's police career is thus summarized:

His Record

Arrested at Green Bay, Wis., on the charge of forgery; convicted to serve one year in Waupun penitentiary.

Arrested in 1872 at Janesville, Wis., on the charge of larceny; convicted to serve ten years in Waupun penitentiary.

Arrested in 1879 at Fond du Lac, Wis., on the charge of larceny; convicted to serve ten years in Waupun penitentiary.

Arrested in 1884 at Janesville, Wis., on the charge of larceny; convicted to serve three years in Waupun penitentiary.

Arrested in 1887 in Chicago, Ill., on the charge of larceny; convicted to serve one year in Joliet penitentiary.

Arrested in 1888 in Chicago, Ill., on the charge of larceny; convicted to serve five years in Joliet penitentiary.

Arrested in 1891 in Chicago, Ill., on the charge of larceny; convicted to serve seven years in Joliet penitentiary.

Arrested in 1899 in Chicago, Ill., on the charge of larceny; convicted to serve ten years in Joliet penitentiary; released Aug. 2, 1905, and re-arrested Aug. 24, 1905, on charges of larceny.

Punshon a Good Prisoner

Because of his good behavior while in prison Punshon has always been released before serving his full time. "When I was released after serving my first sentence I determined to lead an honest life," he said. "I did my first time for forging a $20 note for a suit of clothes. I got a year for that, and when I was released I went back home. There the doors were shut in my face. I was ordered never to return, and then I began the drifting career which has resulted in most of my time being spent behind prison bars. My father, Thomas Punshon, lived in Green Bay, Wis. A penitentiary sentence has no terrors for me now. I take it as a matter of course. Anyone will become hardened when they spend much of their time in jail. I am well acquainted with the criminal element, though I never associated with any of that class when out of prison. In the forty years that I have been in this business I have handled some money, though not as much as one would expect. If I hadn't been arrested yesterday I think I would have got $5,000 from a New York woman tomorrow night."

Has Swindled Many Women

Punshon, who is also well known to the police as Frank Hope, is neatly dressed and of a clerical appearance. He talks quietly and uses little slang. He never swears and is well educated. The following women, the police say, will prosecute him: Mrs. Margaret Forrester, La Salle avenue and Oak street; Mrs. Walker, 5213 Wentworth avenue; Mrs. Walker, 30 Ogden avenue; and Mrs. Harriet Draper, Misses Louisa and Christiana Greasick, Ludington, Mich.

SOME OF "THE RUSTLERS" WHO WILL "RUSTLE" WITH THE LYMAN TWINS AT THE MYERS GRAND

ATHLETIC OUTLOOK IS SOME BRIGHTER

Wisconsin Has Hopes of Being Represented Worthily on Gridiron, Track and Field.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Aug. 26.—Letters are daily arriving which contain much gratification to Graduate Manager George F. Downer, for they announce that candidates for the University of Wisconsin football team will appear in force the coming week in readiness to enter training at the preliminary camp in Marinette September 4. One disappointment was the information that John O'Brien, the 210-pound line man who was counted upon as the best prospect for successor to "Dick" Remp at center, would not return, having accepted a $500 position to coach the Appleton high school eleven. He opened a law office, but was not successful, a natural start for a young lawyer, and instead of sticking at it or entering the coaching job, he accepted the high school coaching job. The suggestion is made that the fact that there is to be no "contingent fund" for football players at Madison this fall has some part in determining O'Brien against a continuation of his varsity athletic career. News equal in goodness to the disappointment of O'Brien's decision was contained in a letter from Robinson, the 190-pounder who engaged in a fist encounter with Remp in the university gymnasium last fall and who shortly thereafter left the university. He has been working at the state hospital for the insane at Mendota this summer and has been maintaining a little physical training department for himself in connection with his work. He is reported in splendid physical condition and eager for the race for Remp's place at the pivotal position in the Badger line. Manager Downer says there will be ample material for the line as an abundance of good candidates are coming out.

It appears that the university managers missed a bet in the matter of a trainer for the football team, there being two men under contract for that work at Madison.

A week ago Manager Downer announced with much satisfaction that he had succeeded in making a contract with Alvin Kraenzlein, the former Wisconsin track star, holder of several world's records in the hurdles and also a crack in the broad jump, high jump and sprints, to coach the Wisconsin track team and act as trainer of the football squad. It now transpires that Andrew M. O'Dea, coach of the Wisconsin crews, is also under pay for the same work. He draws $1,000 a year from the university athletic authorities for coaching the crews and another $1,000 a year from the board of regents as "instructor in athletics." It is understood and made a part of his working agreement with the regents that he is to teach boxing lessons for a short period of the winter and to serve as physical trainer of all university athletes teams. Mr. O'Dea has not always been able to work in harmony with the various coaches and sometimes has refused to act as trainer. Late in the season last fall he quit without notice and for a week Assistant Coach Cochran had entire charge of the football squad. R. M. Bashford, professor of law and a member of the athletic board of directors, and Federal Judge A. L. Sanborn, also a member of the board, interviewed O'Dea and after pointing out the duties under the contract with the regents, the matter was adjusted and Mr. O'Dea continued his work until the close of the season. He then declared that he would not again serve as trainer. It seems certain that Mr. Kraenzlein will be the trainer, but how the regents will adjust Mr. O'Dea's situation is undetermined and perhaps unimportant.

Frank Waller, the crack Wisconsin quarter-mile runner, has communicated that he met Parsons, the fast California sprinter, on his recent trip to the Olympic games at Portland, and that Parsons has decided to enter the University of Wisconsin this fall.

DEDICATORY AT SAINT PETER'S

SPECIAL SERVICES AT ENGLISH LUTHERAN CHURCH.

DOCTOR FRICK TO PREACH

Edifice Has Been Remodeled, Redecorated and Renovated in the Interior.

With services of communion and dedication the St. Peter's English Evangelical Lutheran church will reopen tomorrow after two months of interior remodeling, redecoration and renovation and a suspension of regular worship for two weeks. The devotion preparatory to communion will be held at quarter after ten in the Sunday school room and the celebration of the Lord's supper and dedicatory of the refitted house of worship will be at ten-forty-five.

Reverend Frick and Andra Two noted divines in the English Lutheran sect will participate in the services. Rev. W. K. Frick, D. D., of Milwaukee, president of the Eastern Conference of the Synod of the Northwest, will preach the sermon, taking for his topic: "The Divine Renewal Applied to Your Sanctuary and to Your Own Soul and Body." Text: Revelation XXI, 3. Rev. A. C. Andra of Chicago, western field secretary of the General Conference will be present to assist Dr. Frick and will make a few remarks.

The Janesville society and acted as its pastor for some time, leaving when Rev. Christy was called here. At present he is in charge of the Beloit church, which he has recently brought into existence. The services will be conducted by Rev. Christy. Two anthems have been practiced by the choir for the occasion. They are: "Hear Our Prayer," Fairbanks, and "Incline Thine Ear to Me," Himmelh, with a bass solo by Alfred Olson.

Appearance Much Changed

Since the last service was held in the church proper some several weeks ago the interior appearance of the sanctuary has been altered greatly, with a change of structure in the front and a brightening generally. The platform has been remodeled and a triple Roman arch constructed above it. This is supported by four beautiful columns of the Roman Renaissance style. Entirely new furnishings for this portion of the church have been purchased and placed. The style is all Roman and the furniture and furnishings are of walnut. The new altar occupies the central position at the rear. It is a fine specimen of the cabinet-maker's art and is surrounded by a polished brass communion rail. The altar vestments are very beautiful and made by the women of the church. The draperies are hand-embroidered and decorated with applique. There are five sets in the five ecclesiastical colors. A handsome brass cross, from the Graham silversmith in New York will stand on the altar.

Arrangement Altered

Occupying positions on the central part of the platform will be the new pulpit, lectern and hymn board. On the right section is the pipe organ and the choir loft. The singers will now face the church instead of the audience as formerly. To the left a marble baptismal font stands and the ceremonies of baptism will be performed there. A new carpet of a dark green color with a brown figure has been stretched upon the platform and a new system of lighting the platform arranged. Thirty-six incandescent globes are used and are placed in the forward portion of the arch out of sight from the audience.

In the Church Proper The church proper has been changed in appearance also. The walls and ceilings were scraped of paper and frescoed, the walls in terra cotta and the ceiling in a deep cream color. The carpet was removed and cleaned, the cushions in the seats repaired and the seating near the platform altered. The work has been done largely by volunteers from the congregation, the women, the young and old men, all furnishing their services at times. Rev. Christy has not been idle during the time the work was being done. He has taken a leading part in this and personally directed it.

There is no eight-hour day in Russia. On the Government work the laws provide that the day must not extend beyond eleven and a half hours, not counting the recess, and on Saturdays and days before holidays not more than ten hours.

CANE RACKS ARE NOT ON DOUBTFUL LISTS

Are Not Games of Chance, Hence Can Be Played at County Fairs.

A cane rack is not a gambling device. The determining element of the game or diversion is skill and not chance. This is the holding of an opinion rendered by the attorney general in response to a number of inquiries from managers of county agricultural fairs. The attorney general, after careful examination of the authorities, came to the conclusion that it is not gambling for a man to sell rings for the patron to pitch or throw at an area of cane heads projecting from a canvas or net surface and present the patron with the canes that may be rung in the process of pitching the rings. Whether the patron gets one or more canes or gets nothing more than the exercise and practice of tossing the ring is a matter determined wholly by the degree of skill that the patron possesses, and is not determined by mere chance. Therefore the cane racks, knife racks, goose games and similar diversions will be tolerated at county fairs and the managers need not fear that by allowing these pastimes on the grounds they will be in danger of losing their state appropriation.

Many other games are desired to be allowed on fair grounds, but when the profits or losses are determined purely by chance, even though it be presumed that the proprietor has not "fixed" the apparatus against the patron, the gambling element is present and the state authorities are determined to withhold state money from such fairs as allow gambling on their grounds in any manner. All wheel and spin games come under the gambling head for it is denied by the attorney general that skill enters at all into the turning of a wheel of fortune or the spinning of a balanced spindle.

A great many people believe, the attorney general admits, that skill enters into many gambling games. It is said that skill enters into roulette in the placing of the chip on the proper spot of the cloth or in computing mathematically a system of betting, but the fact that the decision of the game rests merely in chance includes that game in the gambling definition. Skill also enters into the game of poker, to a very large degree. It requires great skill to effectively cover the cards from the inquisitive gaze of the opponents. It requires great skill to "bluff" in the betting so that the opponents may be misled as to the character of the player's hand and think he is risking ten chips on a pair of four-spots when in fact he may have a full house. It requires skill to control the muscles of the face and suppress the expression of glee when the player draws aces to a full house with kings, to express disappointment when the drawings complete a royal flush, so that the other players may not be frightened and throw up their hands and the Jack-pot be thereby deprived of the "sweetenings" that would otherwise come. However, in poker as with all card games, the attorney general holds that chance determines the distribution of the cards and this is the decisive element, the skill being only accessory and not of the greatest importance.

St. Paul Road.

Operator Lampman has returned to work after a two week's vacation from his duties at the passenger depot, days.

General Superintendent P. C. Elledge was here from Milwaukee last night and today.

Conductor "Ted" Evans, in charge of the westbound way-freight, fell from the top of a car while switching in the yards at this station Friday afternoon and suffered a broken leg, says the Edgerton Reporter. He was riding in a car that was being shunted, when the air brake closed down so suddenly that he was thrown headlong to the ground. The limb was broken close to the ankle in quite a bad fracture. He was taken to the office of Dr. McManus and the fracture reduced so that he was able to be taken to his home in Milwaukee Saturday morning. A. D. Evans has been in the employ of the Milwaukee road for over 20 years and is about 48 years of age.

By the narrow margin of a few seconds, Conductor James Leabey, who has a passenger run on the Mineral Point division of the Milwaukee road, missed being struck in the face by a rock that was hurled into the passenger train going west Thursday evening, says the Monroe Times. The train had just crossed the bridge west of Brodhead when the passenger in the smoking car were startled by the crash of glass. A stone came through the second window from the rear end of the coach and passed through the glass door by which conductor Leabey had just entered. Mr. Leabey stood talking to George Trautwine, the well-known Milwaukee hardware salesman, who occupied the second seat from the end, as the stone passed through the coach. The conductor had the side of his face and nose cut by the flying glass and Mr. Trautwine was struck by pieces of glass. The stone must have been of good size as it made a hole as big as a baseball in the coach window and smashed the glass in the door.

Concerning Foreign Roads.

The duty of a railroad train to slacken speed at dangerous crossings is announced by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to exist where safety gates have been erected but the watchman is off duty and the gates are open. (Schwarz vs. Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, 61 Atlantic Rep. 255.)

A block signal system which will work independently of signal men in towers will be finished in a few weeks on the Buffalo division of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western. The distance of 180 miles from Buffalo to Elmira will be covered at a cost of $100,000. Of the electro-automatic system adopted, divisional superintendent C. J. Phillips is quoted as saying: "It is practically infallible. No matter how devoted a man may be to his work there are times when he fails to do the proper thing at the right moment. This event is rigidly guarded against in the block system. If at any time a signal fails to give the arm will invariably give the danger sign, as that is the natural position unless set otherwise by the electric current which controls its movements. In this way any mistake or accident is guarded against. Another point that is done away with is the signal tower, where switches and signals are dependent upon men."

SECOND MIRACULOUS ESCAPE OF FARMER

Fulton Man Saved From Death on Rails at Edgerton—Was Intoxicated.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Edgerton, August 26.—Once more Thursday evening Henry Whitaker of the town of Fulton very nearly lost his life under a train. During the afternoon he had been about town and taken pretty freely of liquor. At 9 o'clock he unheeded his team and started towards home, but did not get far ere he turned around for town. Whether the team turned of its own accord or he not knowing whether he went, misdirected them to the east, parallel with the tracks from Main street. Here the team evidently became frightened and were going at a pretty fast rate and were clearing the switches and cars. The pole had fallen after some distance and as the team straddled the T-rail post the speed at which they were going and the sudden contact drove the buggy tongue straight through the 6x8 post. This liberated the horses from the rig and threw the old man out. His cries brought Nate Herlick from his home nearby and he carried Mr. Whitaker from the tracks, pulled the rear of the rig from the same and led away one of the imperiled horses. Hardly had he accomplished this work before the 9:59 train from the east came through. It struck and killed the remaining horse which had run farther away. The buggy was badly demolished, one horse killed and the other cut up quite badly. Mr. Whitaker miraculously escaped with comparatively slight injuries. Several years ago he was struck at the depot here and has had several narrow escapes from similar accidents.

Driven with Revolver: A collector for a Main street grocer was Thursday afternoon driven away from the premises of a party to whom a thirty-eight cent bill was made out, by the use of a revolver. The paper on being presented was torn up and the collector refused to leave at first without securing the money or the bill though threatened by the alleged debtor with a call for the police.

A Baby Girl: Born to Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Dunham of Los Angeles, California on August 20, a baby girl, Mrs. Dunham will be remembered as Miss Althea Cosselin, who formerly resided here.

SPLIT, BRITTLE, DULL HAIR.

All Come From Dandruff, Which is Caused by a Germ. Split hair, hard hair, lusterless hair, brittle hair, falling hair, all owe their origin to dandruff, which is caused by a meanly little microbe that burrows into the scalp, throwing up the cuticle into the hair at the root, causing the several diseased condition of the hair till it finally falls out. Modern science has discovered a remedy to destroy the dandruff microbe, which is combined in Newbro's Herpicide, the delightful hair dressing. Always itching instantly and makes hair soft as silk. Take no substitute, nothing "just as good." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Normal School Meeting.—A meeting to consider the Normal School question assembled last evening pursuant to adjournment, Dr. Whiting in the chair. The committee appointed at a former meeting to confer with the Regents of the Normal School Fund, were called on to report. Mr. W. A. Lawrence, chairman of the committee—consisting of Messrs. Lawrence, Pease and Jackson—made a verbal report, stating the conversation had with the Regents.

The Regents propose to locate two or three schools in as many places distant from each other. Mr. Jackson read a letter from the Secretary of the Board of Regents, stating that they had from 25 to 30 thousand dollars to expend this year in supporting Normal Schools.

It was moved by W. A. Lawrence that we recommend to the Common Council and the Board of Education, to tender the High School building to the Regents of the Normal School Fund, for the purpose of establishing a Normal School here; with a reservation of a portion of the building for our own present use.

Mr. E. L. Dimock moved to amend by offering to sell the High School building to the Board of Regents for fifteen thousand dollars.

Mr. Tallman replied to the amendment and motion to considerable length, opposing the donation of the High School building.

Mr. M. C. Smith offered an amendment to the amendment by substituting twenty thousand dollars.

Amendment lost.

Mr. Larson then withdrew his motion and after considerable running conversation, a committee, consisting of Messrs. Tallman, Lawrence and Pease, was appointed to make further investigations and report at a future meeting. The meeting then adjourned. A. S. Jones, Sec'y; J. B. Whiting, Chairman.

City Items.—The wonderful alacrity and unanimity with which our citizens take hold of any enterprise which looks to the interests of Janesville, explains the rapid strides in prosperity which characterizes us as a city. Just mention the words, "Normal School," and see how the people rush and fill up a hall, to discuss the measure and work for its achievement. Pronounce the word, "manufacturing," and we go in with a will, and lo! the work is done. It is a simple exemplification of what can be accomplished when a community makes a United and harmonious effort in the attainment of an object. If there is anything that will retard the growth of a place, and make it sleepy and dead, it is the indifference and bickering which characterize different localities. The peanut stand policy, when once adopted, leads on to stagnation and retrogression. We thank the stars that such is not ours.

An embodied temperance lecture, in the shape of a badly inebriated young man, made himself very obnoxious last evening near the American House, by his profanity, obscenity and disposition to quarrel. He was a convincing argument of the power of poor whiskey.

Threshing and harvesting tobacco are now the order of the day. Tobacco in this locality seems to be a very good crop. A number have received offers and sold also.

Fair and warmer; showers Sunday.

Stores "walk backward" slowly, at first. A little strong advertising will correct the pace.
But "every ditch is full of those who were wise too late."

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

A Methodist divine down in Indiana gained some cheap notoriety the other day by lauding half a dozen reform governors and holding up to ridicule the chief executive of his own state, Governor Herrick. He compared him to a wooden monkey with a string attachment, ready to do the bidding of a political boss.

This preacher is a fair specimen of a class of intemperate people who infest the country today. They are too virtuous to look upon the wine when it is red, but so thoroughly intoxicated with self righteousness that the tongue wags at will and character and reputation are freely assailed.

For a consideration Lincoln J. Steffens makes a tour of investigation of a state and the most intemperate article results. Ida M. Tarbell concentrates her efforts on an individual and the name of John D. Rockefeller becomes a byword, while Thos. W. Lawson gives an exhibition of the confirmed inebriate bordering on delirium.

The Governor of Wisconsin is inconvenienced by a crowded excursion train and imagines that hanging is too good for the president of the company.

Reformers are so busy denouncing public men and measures, that the old time prohibitionist, whose mission was to annihilate the saloon as the one and only evil, has been lost in the shuffle.

A labor agitator like Michael Sica of Chicago is endorsed by the organization back of him, in spite of inflammatory talk and most intemperate action.

The nation is intoxicated today, not with rum, but with visions of the new Eldorado where every man will be a capitalist, and where corporate wealth will be equally distributed.

When the cities own the public utilities, and the government the transportation companies, we will be a nation of travelers, because it won't cost anything and life on the road will be cheaper than staying at the home.

When Lawson succeeds in bankrupting Rockefeller every man will have a little oil well in his back yard and the grinding monopoly will cease to annoy.

When the primary law gets in its work the machine will no longer menace, and "God's patient poor" will manage to worry along without the protection of game wardens.

When the rate commission settles the railroad tariff to the satisfaction of the chief executive, Iowa will be able to take a few lessons in corn culture.

Intoxicated sentiment is the result of intemperance, and this class of inebriation is contagious. The beverage is largely imbibed just now at Chautauqua assemblies where reformers rant to their hearts content on imaginary ills.

The prominence of the speaker gives authority to his statements and the mind of an audience is frequently poisoned.

The drink habit may or may not be on the increase. It is attracting but little attention these days as compared to other forms of intemperance.

People are imbibing so freely of advanced thought, under the guise of reform, that a general feeling of unrest prevails and class distinction and class hatred was never more pronounced than today.

As a result political parties are dis-integrating and every man is advised to judge individually of men and measures. The fact is ignored that the success of a republic is due to party loyalty, and that while a boy may inherit his religious and political creed, it is better for him to have a creed than to be an orphan.

The intemperance which prevails today is destructive in tendency and demoralizing to the welfare of the nation. The right of property are ignored or lightly regarded and the seeds of socialism are taking root in a soil which was never intended to be corrupted by the damnable doctrine.

The motto of the age is "Something for nothing," and it is adopted by a multitude of people who never speculate in mining stocks or invest in "get-rich-quick" schemes.

The man who covets property which he had nothing to do in creating, wants something for nothing, and the man who assists in confiscating property either by his vote or influence is a party to the same dangerous doctrine.

What will be the final outcome of this era of frenzy? Will the agitation going on in all parts of the country result in public ownership of utilities and government control?

Will corporate wealth be confiscated and distributed for the benefit of the masses? Will socialism ever gain a permanent foothold on American soil?
There can be but one answer to these questions and that is most emphatically, no! Radicalism and fanaticism may gain temporary control in some sections of the country as they did for a time in Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa, but conservatism and common sense are the forces which have made the nation strong and they can not be displaced by theories however plausible they may appear.

The republican party has stood between the nation and disaster in the past and it will be equal to the present emergency.

When the fury of excitement is over and the period of intoxication is succeeded by a period of reform, the old land marks will again be recognized and the only road to success and destiny will be found in the well-beaten path of individual effort.

PRESS COMMENT.

Evening Wisconsin: When the Grand Trunk arrives, Milwaukee will look on admiringly while it is unpacked for a permanent stay.

Delavan Republican: The authorities of Beloit college are contemplating adding the necessary studies to make it a university.

Exchange: A New York paper is authority for a statement that most of the chorus girls were formerly servant girls. But it really seems that this is a pretty tough dig at the servant girls.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Col.
Bryan will be so far from home next year that he can not hear the honk of the republican automobile, but maybe he will be able to smell the gasoline.

Racine Journal: The cold storage operations are so shrewdly conducted that as against the farmer's measly original profit the big concerns reap profits estimated at not less than between 75 to 80 per cent.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Some of the papers assert there is no hope for an agreement between the peace envoys, while Walter Wellman insists that peace is assured. And of course one set or the other is sure to be right.

Atchison Globe: A woman who knew William Allen White when he was five years old, says he was a sissy boy, and wore curls. He has recovered from it now, all right; anyway, he chews plug tobacco.

El Paso Herald: Yellow fever is one of the continuing punishments of the slave trade, it is said. It is imported to the Atlantic seaboard of the Americans from its native home in Africa by the slavers.

Chicago Record-Herald: Clouds of crickets are breaking up picnics and causing other kinds of trouble in Indiana. Perhaps the crickets are endeavoring to furnish raw material for the autumnal chauts of the Indiana poets.

Rockford Register-Gazette: Chicago will abolish her two tunnels next April in order to deepen her river to accommodate the big freighters and thereafter Chicagoans will be deprived of the pleasure of occasionally getting stuck in the tunnels after midnight on a cable car.

Eau Claire Leader: Minneapolis is learning what moth millers mean.
Moths have invaded the milling district and some of the biggest mills have had to shut down. They multiply at the rate of a million a day, and it will cost thousands of dollars to exterminate them.

Waupaca Post: Senator James McGillivray, the "north wind" from Black River Falls, has shed his castor into the ring, and has announced that he is a candidate for governor.
Luckily for the state, no one takes his candidacy seriously, except himself.

Sheboygan Journal: President Roosevelt's compromise proposition was presented to the peace envoys yesterday. If it was like most of Mr.
Roosevelt's compromises it was in the form of a piece of hard wood considerably longer than its diameter and enlarged and covered with protuberances at one end.

Brookhead Independent: Pearl-ring has occupied the attention of a number of our people lately and some good finds have been made. Last week Alton Jury found a pearl for which he was offered a hundred dollars. Gene Broughton found one less valuable, but very pretty. Carl Marty found a double bottom pearl worth a neat sum, and Lou Blake and his father found one this week which sold for $105.

Superior Telegram: "Of course we are sorry that the Mediterranean moths are making trouble for the Minneapolis flour mills, but the fact that Minneapolis has been trying by methods that would make John D.
Rockefeller ashamed of himself to throttle the manufacture of flour in Superior tends to some extent to assuage our grief and ameliorate our tribulation.

Stoughton Courier: The friends of District Attorney McGovern must not be too hasty in offering him the governorship. He is doing nothing but his plain duty when he prosecutes grafters. The moment the public believes that he is in the graft prosecutions because of the political prestige, they will drop him and his political doom is sealed. The offering of higher offices as an incentive to the performance of duty is indirect bribery. Every prosecuting officer is bound to prosecute criminals, just as every attorney who accepts a retainer is bound to work for his client's interests.

Appleton Crescent: Hereafter the promoter of industrial schemes to establish alleged factories in Appleton will betake him to other and more credulously fertile fields to catch more suckers. Appleton has had its eye teeth out in this respect to its business heart's content and no additional experiences are needed. The lams have been sheared and signed to the tune of many thousands of dollars in leading aid to concerns based almost entirely on wind, the result being the crippling of hitherto substantially sound reap profits of innocent emigrants business men, as well as having a tendency to check the business growth and progress of our city.

Green Bay Gazette: As the time for the special election draws near at Marinette the question of loading the city in the sum of $100,000 for the purpose of inducing business enterprises to locate there is being warmly agitated. Public meetings are being held at which speakers are urging the voters to cast their ballots for the bonds in the hope of helping the city. If there is any opposition, and there probably is, it is of the quiet sort and will only be manifest in the count of ballots. But it will take much more than $100,000 to make or break Marinette, and the voting of the bonds is not so serious a question to the city as its advocates would have the voters believe.

The Obsolete Handshake.

Providence Journal: By all means let us have the adoption of a less dangerous and complicated form of greeting. Apart from the nomadic tribes, the handshake is a survival of barbarism. It originated with the cave dwellers who employed it to draw their enemies within striking distance of their rude weapons, and it has no place in modern civilization. It is peculiarly and emphatically at variance with an age which prides itself upon the cold suppression of the warmer emotions and approach to indifference, real or feigned, to everybody and everything. The handshake has never meant half it pretended to express. Elevated and affected, it is ridiculous; sincere and straightforward, it is frequently painful and, as is now apparent, prejudicial to health. A graceful wave of the hand, accompanied by a slight inclination of the head, might be a sufficient manifestation of recognition. Then the short-legged, misshapen microbes might have to remain at home.

Wail from Michigan.

St. Clements (Mich.) Monitor: The Detroit Evening News has an editorial entitled "Michigan's Sad Experience with Beet Sugar." It refers to the disastrous failures at Rochester and Charlevoix, and it might have gone further and referred to other calamities of like character. The News concludes that the business has cost investors much money and has not profited the state. It considers it a forced growth that could not endure. The Detroit News says this:
About three years ago, when the Michigan sugar men were protesting against the rejection of duty, which contributed heavily to demoralization of the trade, the News was holding them up as monsters of selfishness, as a crew of bloated monos-tists, and members of a vile trust.
It printed pictures of them characterized by bull necks, low brows and pleistocene mouths. These were represented enterprising and patriotic citizens of Michigan who put their hard-earned money into enterprises that promised much for the good of the state. The News had nothing for them except abuse and slander.

How Will it Work?

Appleton Post: The administration party has on hand an assortment of some dozen candidates for the governorship. As the time for the canvass approaches, candidates for other offices will spring up without number. How are these candidates to be sorted out? It is manifest that sooner or later some combinations will be made. If not, the vote at the primary will be so divided as to be no index whatever to the popular will. Possibly, it left that way, the actual candidates put on the party tickets will be there by chance as much as though lots had been cast.

There are several ways in which this may be avoided. Party conventions may be held before the primary to nominate a ticket. Those dissatisfied in any way can run at the primary held. But they are at a double disadvantage. The official party sentiment is against them and they have no organization. The party bosses may decide whom they will favor at the primary and use their organization to hold their voters straight to their choice and split the opposition by sacking-horse candidates. In small local election districts, there may be a sort of common consent arrived at by discussion. But the primary may do its best work. But these are unimportant in the party success. The question still remains, how shall these candidates for governor, for instance, be sorted out so as to arrive at a fairly representative expression of the party will?

Argument Against Canal.

Madison Journal: Harold Poles, eminent writer and student of economies, has an article in the September Number of the "Economic Review" in which he claims that it is unnecessary to build the Panama Canal and that the United States will be forced to run it at a loss, he says.

It is clear that the canal enthusiasts have not given careful study to the great trade routes and the shape of the earth. Of course, many distances are shortened, and the canal will divert traffic from the Strait of Magellan, the Cape of Good Hope, and even from Suez, unless that canal, as it can afford to do, lowers its tolls in competition.
Hitherto, one of the problems of the Suez company has been to keep down tolls. Its charter prevents it from raising more than twenty-five per cent on the investment. The Suez rates are now about two dollars a ton, and as the canals this year have climbed to over twenty-eight per cent, a reduction is imperative. If the Suez company, to compete with Panama, should cut down its tolls to one dollar a ton, it would, in the estimates of the steamship traffic experts, be the same as the cutting of 2,000 miles out of the voyage.
"It will be seen, therefore, that low canal rates are just as enchanting to shippers as great savings of distances.
The Panama waterway is to be a highway for the nations, will have to be run by Uncle Sam at a loss."

The New Airship.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Having made a second successful flight in his new airship, "Tololo II," the young western designer, Roy Knabenshue, bids fair to become the hero of modern aeronautics. The first flight was made in view of tens of thousands of excited people in New York last Sunday. Ascending to a height of 1,000 feet or more in his birdlike machine, Knabenshue sailed at will over the city for nearly an hour, starting from Central park and sailing south against a head wind for two miles or so, then turning with a long sweep and starting on the return voyage, and alighting gently on the park road near the starting point. "A landing mishap to the machinery shortened the trip, but the aerial craft was thoroughly under control of the navigator and landed throughout. Last Wednesday a second flight was made, which seems to demonstrate the worth of the idea underlying Knabenshue's design and the success of his experiment in air navigation. Though, of course, all hung on the smooth working of the mechanism and the ability of the parts to stand the strain, the serious break or rept anywhere might have had frightful results for the nervy aeronaut held aloft by his frail bubble of silk 1,000 feet above the solid earth. On Sunday the trip was made from Sixty-second street south as far as the Madison building, thence heading north with the wind abeam the "Tololo" easily beat a Sixth avenue elevated train on the way to the park, where the landing was easily made. A main feature of both flights was the navigator's apparently perfect control. Tololo II thus proving herself a really "drivable" balloon, a type of experimental aircraft which now, after these tests especially, seems to have a decided lead on the aeroplane type favored by the luckless Prof. Langley of seriocomic memory. Roy Knabenshue is to be congratulated on his pluck, nerve, and ingenuity, and on his success in

And Some of Them Have Important Bearing on the Hoped-For Line Between Janesville and Madison.

There is a report current to the effect that the stock of the Rockford, Beloit & Janesville Interurban Ry. Co., heretofore owned by Cleveland parties, has been purchased by Farson, Leach & Co., of Chicago, and another that a Mr. J. I. Nutt, of Cleveland, possibly acting in the interests of the Chicago firm, has secured a thirty-day option on 10,000 shares, which option has yet two weeks to run. The theory is that the purpose of the transaction, if such a one has been consummated or is pending, is to consolidate the line with the connecting Rockford with Freeport and Belvidere. Those who advance this theory even go further and surmise that Madison traction interests have been or are to be drawn into the circle.

Madison Line to Extend
What may be taken as possible evidence that some such deal is in the air is a statement coming from the Capital City that the Madison Traction Co. will build an interurban line to Stoughton, touching Lakes Kegonsa and Waubesa. President Montgomery is said to have practically decided to undertake the project. A survey of the proposed line was underway at the same time engineers in the employ of the R. B. & J. line were engaged in laying out a route from Edgerton to Stoughton and it was under the direction of the Madison Traction Co. The survey of the route from Edgerton to Stoughton is completed and the profiles are in the hands of the R. B. & J. officials.

Fish or Cut Bait
It is understood that a sort of preliminary survey was also made between Janesville and Edgerton but that the R. B. & J. people left the work on this section of the proposed line unfinished pending the next move of the Southern Wisconsin Interurban Co., which had secured an extension of its franchise in Janesville up to October. Until the latter should decide either to build or get out of the field it is supposed that the Rockford line officials were unwilling to take further steps. The franchise of the Southern Wisconsin Co. in Edgerton and Stoughton have expired, it is understood, and these cities have refused to grant any extension. Very soon, therefore, the organization of Janesville capitalists must either fish or cut bait, it would seem. There have been reports that they still expect to build and are quietly preparing to take offensive action which will lead to the beginning of the actual work of construction of a line from Janesville to Madison next spring. The interested parties are non-committal on the subject.

Several Investigation Points
If the R. B. & J. line is sold will it make any difference in the prospects of their extension, or is the construction of that new line one of the objects of rumored consolidation? The civil engineers employed by the Rockford line are no longer at work. Were they withdrawn because of the sale said to be impending or solely because the company wished that no further work be done until the Southern Wisconsin Co. had shown its hand? If an affirmative answer is given to the former half of the question, then the move on the part of the Madison line can only be regarded as an independent move and the prospects of the Rockford extension from Janesville to Madison go a glimmering. "That there was some sort of an understanding between President Montgomery of the Madison line and Manager Clough of the R. B. & J. when surveys were simultaneously commenced from both ends of the proposed route but under different auspices, seems a conclusion well warranted by subsequent developments. Whether this understanding is to survive a change of ownership of the Rockford line is a question which the future will have to answer.

IS PICKING SECOND STRAWBERRY CROP

George Hiller Enjoying Fresh Berries From Vines Which Yielded Some Weeks Ago.

For the second time this season George Hiller is harvesting a crop of strawberries from his vines at his home, 9 Linden avenue. When it was berry time he gathered a good supply of the sweet fruit and congratulated himself upon the size and quality of the berries. Shortly after this small green fruit developed and now Mr. Hiller is watching his second crop ripen. Yesterday afternoon he picked a quart of berries and they were enjoyed at the family supper table last evening. Mr. Hiller expects to take more from the vines shortly. The Rockford Morning Star of yesterday vouches for a similar case. Mrs. Mary Duncan, 1233 School street, having a crop of berries ripening on the same vines from which she harvested plentifully earlier in the year.

FREIGHT CRASHES THROUGH ANOTHER

Northwestern Train Cuts St. Paul String of Cars Twice—Conductor Injured.

On one of the railroad crossings at Milton Junction before twelve o'clock last night a North-Western freight train crashed through two strings of cars on the St. Paul tracks, and Conductor Callahan of the Prairie du Chien division of the St. Paul line was injured. The St. Paul freight is known as the short run, going between Janesville and the North-Western train was the Belvidere-Pond du Lac time freight, in charge of Engineer E. E. Clark of Fond du Lac. The St. Paul crew had been setting out a few cars and strings occupied two tracks. The North-Western train, crashed through four strings, derailing four cars and blocking traffic. In some manner, Conductor Callahan was hurt and laid in an unconscious state for some time. The extent of seriousness of injuries have not yet been ascertained.

ROYAL ARCANUM IS TO CONSIDER RATES

Special Meeting of the Supreme Council. It is To Be Held During the Next Week.

Actions taken by the different lodges of the Royal Arcanum regarding the new rate of insurance has resulted in a meeting of the Supreme Council at Put-in-Bay this next week, when the matter will be thoroughly decided upon. The Janesville members of the order are anxiously waiting the result of this conference, as this lodge was among the first in the state to object to the rates being put into effect. If the new rulings are not satisfactory to the ten thousand old members, who are over sixty-five years of age and who would suffer most, the order will with all probability lose prestige in the United States. It is thought the present plan for assessments will be revoked and another plan adopted.

CARNIVAL TALK IS RIFE IN CITY

EAGLES MAY FOSTER ONE THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 4TH.

THE FERRARI BROS. SHOWS

This Is The Carnival Company That May Act In This Matter Should It Be Decided Upon.

Janesville may have a carnival on the week of September 4th under the auspices of the Eagles. This is the announcement current on the streets today. Mr. Harry Hardy, the representative of the Ferrari Bros. shows, is in the city today in consultation with the carnival committee of the Eagles and at a meeting of that lodge tonight the question will be decided upon. As the matter stands now it appears as though the mere action of the Eagles will be sufficient to insure the city the carnival. Many of the business men of the city who have been approached are enthusiastic over the idea, while others are not so optimistic as to the great good that would be done to the city.

The Carnival
Mr. Harry Hardy, who represents the Ferrari Bros. shows, said this afternoon: "The Ferrari Bros. Shows United is the largest by far of all the organizations playing jubilees, celebrations, state fairs, etc. It requires twenty-eight 70-foot cars to transport the paraphernalia, and is known as the 'Paraphernalia White Special.' The attractions consist of twelve different shows—all clean, moral and refined. The Ferrari Bros. were the first to eliminate all the repulsive features, such as dancing girls, snake eaters and freaks. The shows are of such a high class that mothers, sweethearts, wives, sisters and children can visit them unaccompanied, and not see or hear anything that will be in the least offensive.

"The different shows are all under the acting management of gentlemen respectively selected for this one essential, and this feature we are proud of, because we know that each and every patron receives courteous treatment."

Another feature that we are commended for highly, is that we do not carry any gambling devices of any nature, and will not tolerate any such features around any of the shows, and we contract specifically covering this point, and also warn all 'fakers,' or, as generally known, 'grifters,' to keep aloof from the shows. The Ferrari Bros. Shows United consist of the following different attractions:

"The Circus Royal or Stadium, in which is presented twelve of the most inspiring aerial, acrobatic and big circus acts that have ever been presented at a single outdoor performance with an organization of this kind.

Wild Animals a Feature
"The feature show of the varied attractions which will be seen here is, of course, the Ferrari Bros.' big trained wild animal exhibition, or zoo. This attraction is recognized throughout the amusement world as the largest itinerant performing wild animal show in existence, and consists of over two hundred trained lions, tigers, leopards, wolves, bears, sloths, hyenas, jaguars and by-birds; the latter are the only living specimens of this breeding in the entire world.

"Other shows that are interesting and prove a novelty in every city visited are 'Creation,' Pepper's London ghost show, the monkey and pony show (which affords a great deal of amusement for the ladies and children), the 'Temple of Mirth,' 'Magic Whirlpool,' Edison's moving pictures, 'Palais Du Costume,' the 'Maimie,' 'Palais Eight,' 'Palais Du Surprise,' 'Jewels Manikins,' 'Autoscopy,' 'Philippino Midgets,' Ferris Wheel and the Sleepchase.

great benefit that a city derives from a carnival and seems surprised that Janesville does not have one each year. NEW RESTAURANT IS HANDSOMELY FITTED

Mr. Con. McDonald Will Open Beautifully Equipped Cafe September First.

Mr. Con. McDonald will open on Sept. 1 a handsome and beautifully equipped restaurant; in fact, a place that would be a credit to a city much larger than Janesville. The large room adjoining J. H. Myers' store on S. Main street has been secured and workmen have been busy for a month refitting and redecorating. New hardwood floors have been laid, fresh papering and decorating done, and over 200 electric lights installed in and about the room. In the front is placed the lunch counter and general dining room. Back of this and separated from it by grill work and curtains, is the ladies' and gentlemen's private dining room where Mr. McDonald will make a specialty of catering to private dinner parties. In the extreme rear is the kitchen, a model of its kind. It is a big room, fitted with perfect ventilation and with the aid of a large suction fan completely removes all odors arising from the cooking of various foods, and protects the dining rooms thoroughly from this disagreeable feature. Mr. McDonald said: "I have long realized the need of a first-class, modern restaurant here, and I have every reason to believe that the public will appreciate my efforts to give them the best that money can provide. Nothing has been overlooked in furnishing my place of business, and my patrons will be served with the best of everything that the Chicago market affords." Mr. McDonald opens his new place under most auspicious circumstances and that it will be a success is an assured fact.

OSTEOPATHIC NOTES

That You May Know of Osteopathy and What it is Doing For Humanity.

The human body is a perfect machine, complete within itself to live; it is automatic, self-adjusting, self-regulating, and even self-restorative when it undergoes damage and bad usage or violence. It is designed by its all-wise Creator to work in harmony with the laws of nature, and like a machine of wood or iron, so long as its separate parts are each in proper form and adjustment, the whole machine works in good order. But the body, like all machines, does get out of repair, and what physicians have for centuries overlooked—that, first, the body gets out of mechanical repair before any resulting disease is tolerated in the body; that disease, or sickness, is in the main only the state of faulty adjustment and inharmonious balance of the different working parts of this machine; that disease, or pain, or friction of parts, or stoppage of work in our bodies, is due specifically to some mechanical obstruction of the blood supply or nerve power of the body; and that disease can be cured by removing unnatural pressures, and blockades from blood and nerve channels, so that the circulating currents of nerve-life and blood-life can go to the parts and renew their depleted energy.

In the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, October 22, 1903, Dr. C. L. Watson says: "Cervical dislocation is not a mere medical curiosity but a pathological condition likely to appear in the practice of any physician or surgeon. Its pitiable results are generally, perhaps always, amenable to speedy, safe and complete amelioration. It occurs with sufficient frequency to justify every practitioner in familiarizing himself with the diagnostic fractures and the method of reduction." Thus the medical profession is coming to the Osteopathic way of thinking. Osteopaths have been correcting cervical dislocations for several years and are specialists in this line of work.

When you get the Osteopath to clear your body of all the wreckage of disease that has been accumulating for years the bloom of health will return and you will step forth a new man.

Osteopathy is making gigantic strides; it is rapidly disengaging the scientific world from mere theories and guess-work; with nature as a guide, she is skillfully applying her principles and effectually proving their efficacy by the crucial test, results.

WILL WITHHOLD THE REPORTS

Condition of Ohio County Accounts Not to Be Made Known Yet.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 26.—The report of the special examiner who investigated the accounts of Montgomery county has been filed with the state bureau of public accounting and it is now in the hands of State Auditor Gilbert for examination. Its contents will not be disclosed until after the election to prevent its being made political capital. It is probable, for some reason, that the bureau will withhold until after election the report of conditions in Franklin county.

Henry Calderas, aged 14 years, employed by the Morgan Lumber company at Oshkosh, was fatally crushed in an elevator.

DOING THEIR DUTY

Scores of Janesville Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidney's duty. When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick. Backache and many kidney ills Janesville people endorse our claim.

Urinary trouble, diabetes, Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. Lawrence of 404 S. Franklin St., engineer at the Janesville Electric Light Co., says: "Seven years ago I injured my back by falling through a bridge near Afton into the Rock river. I was on a traction engine, its weight broke through and the whole thing went into the stream. Since that time my back has ached by spells sometimes severely. If I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and if I brought a strain on my back lifting the result was a bad backache and sharp twinges of pain in my loins. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and after I used them I was free from backache. I am in better health than any time since falling through the bridge."

Sold for 50 cents per box, by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

SMART CHAPEAU FOR TAILOR-MADE WEAR

For wear with the smart tailor-mades that are so chic for morning and shopping uses, as well as for travel, this smart chapeau possesses many advantages. To begin with, the shape is decidedly novel, with its diamond-shaped crown and a brim that lifts sharply and becomingly at the left side. Thick black chenille is braided to form the shape, with just a touch of an old blue chenille in the crown and on the brim, forming a pattern that shows up in excellent relief. The brim is close and small at the back, grows larger to the front and rises up sharply at the left side, and here the greater part of the simple trimming scheme is posed. Black velvet ribbon is used to edge and bind the brim; and in the loops and scarfs of the same ribbon on the upturned brim a pair of iridescent green wings are tucked, the band in the head size being similarly trimmed, smaller wings and loops, with ends of the ribbon falling on the coiffure in the back.

ROCKFORD REJOICES IN THE QUARANTINE

Claims That It is Amply Protected From Fear of Small Pox From Janesville.

The Rockford health department, according to the Rockford Star, after carefully investigating the smallpox condition of Janesville, is of the opinion the Bower City authorities have taken every precaution to prevent the spread of the contagion, one patient has been taken to the isolation hospital while the other four have been quarantined at their homes. Under the Wisconsin laws the patient has a right to say whether or not they shall be taken to an isolation hospital or be quarantined at their homes. If they choose the latter, the quarantine is most rigid, the patient being in a room entirely separated from any part of the house, and no one is permitted to enter the room. Sanitary Police Edwards of Rockford investigated the cases and in talking with the Janesville authorities learned ed the cases were of a light form. The contagion was taken in time and under the present conditions there is little chance for smallpox reaching Rockford from Janesville. The city is still free from contagion of any kind, a fact that greatly pleases the health department and every citizen.

Marquette will vote almost solidly next Tuesday at the special election in favor of bonding the city for $100,000 for the purchase of the H. Witbeck company's property and for a fund to be handled by the Commercial club for bonuses to manufacturers. Mass-meetings were held each night this week, and the voters expressed unanimity in favor of the project.

grave and sober, with no sign of light within. The sentinel beat against the door, and it was opened at once. Muffled as had been the knocking on the oak, it awoke the alert general, for when Frances had dismounted and followed her guide into the ample hall Cromwell stood at the head of the stair, a candle in his hand.

"Come up," he commanded, and as she ascended the stair cried impatiently, "Well!"

"There is the king's commission," she said quietly, presenting the document to him. He took it without a word, turned and entered the room, she following him. He placed the candle on a table, did not take the time to untie the silken cord that bound the royal communication, but ripped it asunder and spread open the crinkling parchment, holding it up to the light. He read it through to the end, then, casting it contemptuously on the table, said:

"Wench, you have done well. Would you were a man."

"The pardon for my brother, sir, if it please you."

"It is ready, and the commission as captain also. You see I trusted you."

"So did he now, and through his faith he now lies undone in Banbury."

"You have not killed him?" cried Cromwell sharply, looking with something almost like alarm at the uncanny apparition. All beauty had deserted her, and her face seemed plucked and small, white as the parchment on the table, and rendered unearthly in its hue by the mass of cavern black hair. "Killed him? No! But I have killed his faith in woman, cozened him, lied to him, robbed him, to buy from you, with the name of your Maker, on your lips, a life that you know was not forfeited, but which you had the power

"Ah, yes, yes, yes! I remember your tongue of old, but it may wag harmless now, for all of me. His life was forfeited. Aye, and this Scot's as well. But no matter now."

He threw before her the pardon for her brother and his commission as captain, then strode out of the room to the head of the stair-again, and she heard his strenuous voice:

"Ride at once to the commandant at

"Yes, excellency."

"Send up a stoup of wine."

He waited at the stair head until the wine was brought, then took it into the room and placed it on the table before her.

"Drink," he said.

"I cannot," she cried.

"Drink!" he roared, bringing his clenched fist down on the oaken table with a force that made the very room quiver. The word had all the brutal coarseness of an oath, and it bent down her weak resolution as the storm levels the sapling. She drank deep, then let the dragon drop, raised her hands to her face and burst into a helpless wall of weeping.

"There, there," he said in tones not unkindly, "do not distress yourself. You are a brave wench, and the wine will do you good, though you take it as it were a leech's draft. You will rest here in Broughton."

"No, no!" sobbed the girl. "I must at once to Raubury. Give me, I beg of you, a pass for my servant to the county of Durham. I would send him on to my brother without delay, so that your release may reach him as soon as may be."

"But you—you do not purpose travelling farther with this Scot?"

"I have done the crime. I must not

PFISTER SCORES A POINT IN HIS SUIT

May Have the Effect of Quashing the Indictment Against Him—A Victory.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 26.—The Wisconsin Rendering company yesterday confessed judgment on notes of $6,500 held against it by Charles F. Pfister, who recently was indicted on a charge of larceny of $14,000 from that company.

As Mr. Pfister brought the suit to force the company to establish a counter claim to the $14,000 in question, its failure to do so is held by Pfister and his counsel effectually to rob the indictment of its force, although it still stands on the records against the political leader and hotel man.

That their leader had "made good" is the boast of the Pfister followers in Milwaukee. They declare that District Attorney McGovern and the anti-Pfister forces have been beaten out in what they declare was an attempt to use the grand jury for political purposes.

Brought Suit to Test Indictment. Pfister's purpose in the entire matter was definitely stated by him and his counsel before the suit was brought. When he was indicted Mr. Pfister bought up the notes which the First National bank held against the Wisconsin Rendering company and he then began suit to collect.

The company had twenty days to answer, the time expiring yesterday. At 11 o'clock yesterday morning E. C. Gross and George Schaub of the company appeared at the office of Attorney George Lines and admitted that Pfister did not owe the company a penny, but that the company was indebted to Pfister. They then paid the notes held by Pfister. Later both parties appeared in court and the suit was disposed of as per stipulation.

Pfister declares he will demand that the indictment against him be disposed of at once. Pfister wants an immediate trial, but can't get one because Judge Brazee is out of the city on a vacation. He is expected back next week and the criminal case will then be taken up.

Pfister Will Explain All. Since the indictment was returned it has become well known that District Attorney McGovern suspected the fund Pfister held for the company was to bribe the council and that the theft charge was made against Pfister to compel him to explain the transaction. Those close to him say a full explanation will be forthcoming.

"Mr. Pfister is not compelled to make this explanation to disprove the charge of theft placed against him, because the grand jury cannot substantiate the charge since the rendering company officials deny their money was stolen," said his counsel. "But since his enemies have insisted that he used the money to bribe the council he proposes to show the falsity not only of the theft charge but of the bribery suspicion as well, and to prove the claim he has made the indictment was a bit of political persecution."

MAC CADDONS CIRCUS STRANDED IN FRANCE

Man Well Known to Janesville People Meets a Cropper in Europe.

Dispatches from Paris relate a tale of suffering to some two hundred circus employees of MacCaddon's American circus. MacCaddon is well known in Janesville to many of the old-time circus men and also to many citizens having visited this city with the Barnum and Bailey aggregation, the Buffalo Bill Wild West, and other leading tented exhibits. Mr. MacCaddon is a brother of Mrs. Bailey, the owner of the Barnum and Bailey show, and the head of the great circus trust. He recently conceived the idea of an American circus traveling through Europe. He took some of the best circus men of this country from the big aggregations with him and started out. Among them was Whiting Allen, who was here last season with the Barnum and Bailey show. The show stranded in Grenoble, France, on August 10th and on August 22 the food supply was shut off, leaving the two hundred odd employees with no money or food. Their condition is said to be pitiful and Mr. MacCaddon is said to be in London trying to raise money to help his stranded people out of their difficulties. One dispatch says that he obtained transportation for twenty of his people and gave them four dollars each. Evidently the whole affair is a bad mix-up and Mr. MacCaddon's friends in Janesville are anxiously waiting for definite word from him.

Indictment Against Milwaukee Man May Be Nullified by Judgment.

ENTERS PRISON TO SAVE WOMAN

New York, Aug. 26.—That a young man of fine family and a student in a large American university deliberately confessed a burglary which he did not commit and willingly went to Sing Sing prison in order to protect the name of a married woman of equally high social standing whom he had compromised in the eyes of her husband is the amazing tale of self-sacrifice told by Carl Fischer-Hansen, a wealthy young lawyer and philanthropist who does a good deal of work among the prisoners at the Criminal Courts building.

The woman's husband now being dead she wishes to have the wrong righted, and confesses to having been in an agony of mind ever since the incident happened.

It further is stated that the woman, who is said to belong to one of the oldest families in the city, has been compelled to submit to blackmail to the extent of $86,000 on the part of an old servant who knew the true circumstances.

Lawyer Hansen refuses to divulge any names until he has thoroughly investigated the story. The erring wife is now at Narragansett Pier, it is said. She is described as an earnest church worker.

Widow Appeals to Lawyer.

"Wednesday, Aug. 23," said Mr. Fischer-Hansen, "a handsome widow came down to my office and asked to be shown into the library, where no one but myself would see her. She then told me the following extraordinary story. I cannot tell you her name, but you certainly would know it if I did. She does not belong to the smart set, but comes from one of the best old families of New York, her late husband, though living in Manhattan, owned several large factories in New Jersey. She is handsome, does not look more than 25, though she probably is, and has a child.

"She told me that a young man, while not prominent in a business way, had good social standing and was calling on her. Her husband was not aware of the fact that friendship existed between them. Neither wanted the husband to know it. The husband did not know the man. The husband came home unexpectedly and his appearance created considerable confusion. In the midst of which the man arose to the situation. He assumed a rough manner when asked by the husband what he was doing there. He said he was a burglar, that he had forced an entrance to the apartment and that he was willing to take his medicine. He gave an assumed name to the husband and a fictitious address.

"A hurry call for the police was sent over the telephone by the husband and the man made no attempt to escape. All this happened before the wife could say or do anything. She was in such a quandary that she did not know what to do, so she blindly followed the lead of the supposed burglar.

Pleads Guilty to Burglary.

"There was prompt response by the police and the man was marched around to the police station. He was arraigned the next day in the police court. He pleaded guilty to the charge of attempted burglary. The husband was complainant and the woman was the chief witness against him.

"No time was lost in placing the matter before the grand jury, which found an indictment against him. He was arraigned in the court of general sessions, where he again pleaded guilty. The secret of his identity was not disclosed in any of the proceedings, and his name is not known to the prison authorities to-day.

"At his own request judgment was pronounced by the court without the loss of a minute. He was sentenced to three years in Sing Sing. Without a word he turned, went back to his cell in the Tombs, packed up a few belongings, and that night wore a striped suit in Sing Sing prison. His friends wondered what had become of him and thought he had gone on a vacation trip without saying anything to them about it. Later they wondered that nothing had been heard of him.

"The woman now wishes to save the young man from the disgrace and punishment under which he is suffering, and came to me to ask me to try to get a pardon from Gov. Higgins."
